

Copyright Guidelines

SETnology brands, products and services - including images, videos, texts, trade dress, taglines, desktop apps, mobile apps, software downloads or other nexus products and services (the "content") - are owned either by SETnology LLC. or by third parties who have granted SETnology permission either through a public domain license or by direct licensing to use the content. SETnology cannot grant you permission for content that is owned by third parties. You may only copy, modify, distribute, display, license, or sell the content if you are granted explicit permission within the End-User License Agreement (EULA) or license terms that accompany the content or are provided in the following guidelines. For more information, consult your copyright attorney.

Use full product name:

If your use includes references to a SETnology product, you must use the full name of the product. Follow the SETnology Trademark and Brand Guidelines when referencing SETnology Trademarks.

No faults statements or offensive use

Your use may not include any use of disparaging, obscene or pornographic language, and you may not be defamatory, or libelous to SETnology, any of its products, or any other person or entity.

Permitted by SETnology

You must include the following statement: "Use permitted by SETnology."

Link methods

You may link to SETnology content by using either a plain text link with words such as "Provided by SETnology.com" or by participating in an applicable Link Logo program. No other images may be used as a link to any of SETnology sites.